

PREFACE

Dear Reader, you are browsing the second, fall issue of the fourteenth volume of TNTeF—Interdisciplinary eJournal of Gender Studies. We are proud to announce that the counter of the journal’s homepage reads 106.229, not including direct access to the individual contributions. We appreciate your ongoing interest.

Traditionally, the second yearly issue is not a thematic one, but comprises papers from the field of humanities and social sciences. This time, exceptionally, all the articles represent various approaches to doing literary studies. We would particularly like to draw two contributions to your attention. In the INTERVIEW column, we publish the second interview, this time made by Irén Annus as part of the long-cherished idea to run a series of a dialogue between generations of feminist scholars. We invite mentors and their students to reflect on what they have learnt from each other and in what directions they are working now, as colleagues in the current socio-cultural context of Hungary. The dialogue this time takes place between Erzsébet Barát and Anna Kérchy, both of whom are members of TNT Gender Studies Research Group, University of Szeged.

The other publication to which we draw your attention appears in the ARTICLES column. It is Retrospection: Feminist Literary Perspective Then – And Now? written by Györgyi Horváth, in acknowledgment of her reception of the Margit Kaffka Award in recognition of her outstanding scholarship in Hungarian gender studies. She is the fourth recipient of the award, which was founded by TNT, the Gender Studies Research Group, University of Szeged in 2020.

In line with our Editorial objectives, translations, original studies, and responses to publications in our back issues are welcome and to be uploaded to the journal’s OJS platform. If you would like us to consider your work for review, please contact our Editorial Board via gender@ieas-szeged.hu email address. The appropriate copies of publications (books or special journal issues) should be sent to our postal address (TNTeF Editorial Board/IEAS, 6722 Szeged, Egyetem u. 2. Hungary).

Finally, I would like to announce my resignation from my position as Publisher and Editor-in-Chief of this journal, taking effect January 1, 2025. It has been a pleasure to work for bringing about and maintaining a collective space for Hungarian feminist scholarship. I am proud of the fourteen years of work with and for you.

Szeged, December 6, 2024.

Erzsébet Barát
Founding Editor-in-Chief
